

MONTPELIER.

Services in the Temple Emanuel El and a Eulogy by Dr. Gottschell.

The funeral services over the body of Mr. Leonce Montefiore, grand nephew of Sir Moses Montefiore, were performed, yesterday, in the Temple Emanuel El. Funerals in synagogues are deemed an especial honor, and are rare. The coffin has no plate, and was not opened in the Temple, but lay covered with a black pall, on which was inscribed in Hebrew, "Leaves and flowers." The pall-bearers were Mr. Cyrus W. Peabody, Edward Mortimer Archibald, the British Consul; Mr. Morris De Bunsen of the British legation, Dr. Watson of Newburgh, N. Y.; Mr. Lewis May, President of the Temple congregation; Messrs. Wm. Sulzacher, Bendt L. Hart, Harry H. and Montague Marks and Moses Meissner, who had been invited to the service. The coffin was laid, and it is to accompany the body to England. The attendance was large. The ceremonies were conducted in Hebrew, which was followed by a selection of psalms in English by the Rev. Dr. Gottschell, who delivered a eulogy. The distinguished rabbi said that young Montefiore was not content to remain in America, but had gone to Europe, where the latter was stamping upon the minds of men in letters of gold through the general press. He had given up his studies at Oxford for the welfare of the Jewish race. The son deserved to win laurels himself. He graduated at the Law College, Oxford, and had been presented with the keys of the city, and the match upon the German philosopher, and especially upon Goethe, the last lines of which he wrote remarks upon German literature and upon Shakespeare in the mimes and scenes of his life. He had also written a history of the United States, leading to further his researches in that direction, and his visit to the Gomel Community was a great success. He had also written a history of socialism. His letter to the London Press described that novel experiment. The reader reads and learns the lives of the people, and the country which was comprised by a gentle manner of using those words, the organ of the people, which was taken to the right, to the left, and there were strayed. The body was then taken to the undertakers, and there the coffin was placed in an oak box, and immediately sent to the steamship Britannia.

Indictments by Wholesalers.

The houses of many residents up town, including those of Gen. J. Watts De Peyster and Mr. Richard O'Gorman, have been visited of late by thieves, and the police have been called to the scenes. The leaders of the Thirtieth street police arrested Michael Murphy, George Leonard, and Alexander Higgins on the morning of the 9th inst., as they were breaking into the house of Mr. F. S. Manning, at 140 West Thirty-fourth street. A short while back the Mr. F. J. Allard, one of the most prominent dealers in men's wear, was burglarized by Murphy. John Sheridan, proprietor of the barroom at 42½ East Twentieth street, was arrested. In the rear of the barroom he had a safe containing $1,000 worth of wearing apparel and household ornaments. The safe was broken open and the contents were taken. Some of the articles, upon complaints made by these gentlemen and Mr. Manning, the Grand Jury found two indictments against Murphy. Sheridan recovered stolen goods, and three indictments for burglary against Murphy, Leonard, and Higgins.

Mr. Mulligan's Trunks.

An Assistant United States Attorney Horrific yesterday filed an information against William Mulligan, who served on April 30 in the steamship City of Berlin, on account of an alleged discrepancy between his declaration as to the contents of his trunks and what they actually contained. Thirteen silk umbrellas, other silk goods, hats, and various articles were taken from the steamer, and found in the trunks, which were valued at $2,682.72. It is alleged that when the inspector was examining his baggage, Mr. Mulligan dropped three sovereigns before him.
